CMAA reaches 1,000th CCM® milestone

The Construction Manager Certification Institute certified its 1,000th Construction Manager on April 11, during the second online testing date in 2008. The total number of CCMs is now 1,015.

“It’s a significant number to reach,” said Jan paul Miller, the vice president of certification at the Construction Management Association of America. “CCM has become the gold standard in the industry for identifying the most accomplished and qualified practitioners in the business. More and more owners are asking for CCMs in their RFPs.”

The CCM program has grown tremendously in the past few years. In 2003, the total number of CCMs was 382. In just five years, this number has nearly tripled.

The 1,000th CCM was Joseph Graf, of DMJM Management in Detroit.

“The CCM is a noteworthy accomplishment within the industry,” Graf said. “I’m very happy to have that distinction attached to my name. It helps my company and it helps me personally to have this designation on my resume.”

Miller said the move to online testing will allow the exam to be given more often and at more exam sites.

The most recent individuals to pass the CCM exam are:

Daniel Adams
Lawrence Bacher
Stephen Berglund
Larry Blackford
Brian L. Clapp
Matthew Collins

Joseph Graf
Kevin Hitchcock
Joseph Huggins
Jeffery Johnson
Craig E. Kulas
Michael Lopez
Sanford Carlos Loy
Robert Nash
James Peace
Edward Ransom, AIA
Maria Cristina Sabolcik
Jamil Soucar
