CMAA Names Warren Corson Manager of E-Learning

Warren J. Corson, a veteran specialist in online training and “train-the-trainer” programs, has joined the Construction Management Association of America (CMAA) as Manager of E-Learning.

Corson will help guide the transition of CMAA’s extensive Professional Development programs into online, self-paced, and mobile formats, as well as helping to create new programming in response to member interests and needs.

He comes to CMAA from Online Resources, a Chantilly, VA based firm providing technology services for financial institutions, credit card companies and other clients. As principal training specialist, he helped develop a variety of in-house training and blended learning programs.

His other professional experiences include work in training, membership, quality assurance and related areas for a variety of financial organizations.

He is a graduate of Castleton State College in Vermont and a Langevin Certified Instructional Designer/Developer, as well as a Six Sigma Green Belt candidate.

Corson can be reached at wcorsen@cmaanet.org.

CMAA is North America's only organization dedicated exclusively to the interests of the professional Construction and Program management industry. On behalf of its 25 regional chapters and more than 4,700 public and private firms and individuals throughout the nation, CMAA promotes the Construction Management industry and provides professional resources, advocacy, professional development, certification, and business opportunities to its members. CMAA's national headquarters is located in McLean, Va. The Association’s website is www.cmaanet.org.
